FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Mike ter Maat, former Libertarian Party Congressional candidate, has announced his campaign for the party's 2024 presidential nomination.

Appearances on the Sharpe Way with Larry Sharpe and the Brian Nichols Show on April 28 highlighted the viability of a campaign that will launch at the party convention in Reno on May 25. The candidate will appear on Swamp Creatures with Josh Hlavka on May 6.

The candidate's background includes service as a White House economist, free market advocate, economics professor, entrepreneur and public school teacher. From 2010 to 2021, ter Maat served as a police officer in Broward County, Florida.

According to ter Maat, a member of the Mises Caucus, the campaign will focus on the credible possibilities of achieving the party's most bold policy objectives. The campaign has released a three-point plan to end the Federal Reserve Board.

The Mike ter Maat for President committee has registered with the FEC, including disclosure of cash on hand of $100,000. An advisory team consisting of Mises Caucus members and others has come together to include the following:

Dan Cardwell
Jason Hinkledire
